Permission of instructor required. Students must attend first class. Prerequisite: undergrad majors--completion of 100 and 200 level requirements; nonmajors RTF 220 or senior standing; grads: permission of instructor.

An introduction to the history and aesthetics of the film avant garde from the 1920s in Europe to contemporary US work. Emphasis is on exploring the range of experimental film practice and developing critical and aesthetic concepts for discussing avant garde work. A thematic unit on US work of the 50s, 60s, and 70s will consider the parallels between the Beat Generation, Pop Art and the Counterculture and contemporaneous film work.

The course combines screenings, lectures, discussions, readings, and off campus screenings. Films are the main texts for the course. Films will be screened in class and cannot be seen at other times. Thus attendance is important and will help determine the grade. Assigned work includes 5 short reports on field work in Chicago's experimental film and video scene and adjoining art world, weekly participation in Course Management System (Blackboard), an in-class midterm and a final. The final can be either a takehome or in-class (undergrad option).

Grad students will do additional reading and writing, including a take-home final. Grad students will have an additional screening/discussion section that will meet several times during the quarter (probably 9-11 on Friday).

Because many films from different sources are being screened, some actual screening dates may change all take home exams must be turned in by 9 am on Wednesday December 8 to Chuck's mailbox in AMS 215. No late exams. If you do not meet this deadline you MUST take the in class exam at 9 am Thursday Dec. 9.

Because the films screened are usually not available elsewhere, such as at regular video stores, it is very important to attend class. Students with repeated absences will probably find it difficult or impossible to complete the course. Three or more absences are considered excessive and will lower your grade.

Be aware: Most of the films shown in this course affront established mainstream values: aesthetic, social, political, moral, religious, etc. Some films contain (among other things) representations of nudity, violence, sexual activity (including various perversions), drug use, racial stereotyping, rape, infanticide, anorexia, bodily fluids, blasphemy, shakey hand-held camerawork, as well as mocking of official government policy, Christianity, normative heterosexuality, patriarchal values, and suburbia.

Assignments.

Reports. All undergrad students are required to turn in four reports of about 500-750 words on outside events, to the Digital Drop Box on CMS. One is due every two weeks. One additional report will be an analysis of one of the films on the Brakhage DVD, for a total of 5 reports. One every two weeks. No late papers The site reports may be subjective or objective, concentrate on the overall experience or just one film/tape, etc. There will be a list of suitable screenings/events on CMS/Blackboard. The purpose of these fieldwork assignments is to give students additional screenings and experiences in Chicago's avant garde art and media community. 25% of final grade for undergrads; Grads must do three outside event reports: 15% for grads.

Grad students have an additional assignment (25% of final grade), to do additional outside reading, equivalent to a book. Grads must prepare a 2-3 page set of notes, questions, or topics related to the outside reading (for distribution to the other students) (due Nov. 17. posted on CourseInfo).

Exams. The midterm will count 30% of the final grade and consists of short answers on readings and screenings plus writing a short essay (in class) on a film to be shown in class. (25% for Grads)

The final (35% of final grade) will be for undergrads a choice: (a) a takehome essay based on screenings during the last four classes of the quarter, or (b) an inclass exam in two parts: writing an essay after seeing an unannounced film (about 40 min). The second part is over the entire course--screenings, readings, lectures and discussion. Grads must do the take home exam.

Final grade formula:

undergrads--discussion (includes CMS); 10%, five outside screening reports 25%; midterm 30%, final 35%. grads--discussion 10%, midterm 20%, three outside screening reports 15%; reading/presentation report 25%, final 30%.

For the first assignment, students may choose either the current shows at the Museum of Contemporary Art or the galleries of 20th Century painting at the Art Institute (Michigan at Adams). Free Tuesday.

Student Conduct in School of Communication Courses

All undergraduate students in Communication Courses are accountable for the information about academic integrity printed in the University Bulletin. Students are also responsible for the following standards:

- •Attendance is required in all Speech courses, and excessive absence is cause for failure.
- Credit will not be given for two courses that meet at the same time.
- •To receive credit for a course, students must complete all of the work assigned.
- •Assignments must be turned in on time and examinations must be taken as scheduled. Students are not entitled to make up assignments or to grades of Incomplete unless the instructor has approved such arrangements in advance.

Statement for Students with Disabilities

In compliance with Northwestern University policy and equal access laws, I am available to discuss appropriate academic accomodations that you may require as a student with disability. Request for academic accommodations need to be made during the first week of the quarter, except for unusual circumstances, so arrangements can be made. Students are encouraged to register with Service for Students with Disabilities (SSD) for disability verification and for determination of reasonable academic accommodations.
